Madam, Sir,

A microbial contamination source (Burkholderia cepacia, negative gram) has been identified and localized in an outsourced manufacturing process and has brought a potential bacterial contamination to some batches of manufactured wipes.

In case of contamination triggered by contaminated wipes, immunocompromised patients would be at greater risk of infection (pneumonia). Globally, the risk assessment for potential health hazard linked to the use of those wipes results in low risk for the patient and the user. It takes into consideration the products' indication, the absence of any adverse event report linked to the use of the wipes, the probability of infection occurrence and the results of additional investigations (limited survival time of the bacteria and sensitivity of this bacteria to antibiotics: piperacilline (PTZ) and ceftazidime (CZD)).

Corrective actions to eliminate the contamination source have been implemented and are being closely monitored.

For precautionary reasons, we ask you to no longer use any remaining units you may have in stock bearing the batch numbers documented in the enclosed appendix, as they may contain some contaminated wipes.

We would be grateful if you could acknowledge receipt of the present communication by returning at your earliest convenience - but no later than 28/02/2019 - the attached reply form duly completed and signed.

If applicable, the proof of product's destruction has to be provided to close the current action.

Your sales contact remains at your entire disposal for any question or assistance that you may need.

The undersigns confirm that this notice has been reported to the appropriate Regulatory Agency.

Please accept our apologies for the inconvenience it may have caused.

Yours faithfully.

Catherine Parcevaux Fivel Quality Manager	Yves Mailliard Materio-vigilance Responsible	Bertrand Letartre CEO
